3 Immense Floors Alive with The Best Photographic Talent Possible to Procure.

"I win the WAR!" cried a portion of oil,
While rain fought for Stocks, and power and gold
Swept "War to the hilt, and the hilt to the end."
What torrents of blood in war have been spilt!
Photography then was unknown to the world,
And the wings of our Eagles were not then unfurled
To command for our Union and our Brother to win
From 27 States the scant of Cash "Ou"!

A fatal war of "WAR" is now tickling the bosom
With a SPLENDID DISPLAY of dancing heat!
To keep that fair person with rosy cheek glow
And FLAKES that nestle in folds of fur drive;
And "BOOTS" to buttons, whether singled or pairs,
To have at their base "Just Arrived" a FLAKE,
For this fact remains, "There's no use to talk,"
Hartley's Scooter is still the "Cock of the Walk"!

So go with your "WAR," right yellow may's win,
And suggestion our Scooter's tail some of its vim
Is to sit on the perch, while its glory and fame
Can never be pulled by a temporal Power!
The battles are fought and the victories won
Freedom has a "register out of a pair"!
One thread of the story knotted High Prices down;
And the public have placed on our Scooter the Crown.

Continuation of Our Great 25 Per Cent Closing Out Sale.

It is only a short time ago that the fund on our Retail Store at a very considerable expense. We did so supposing it to be a help to our Wholesale business by placing before the public an exhibition showing the names and variety of popular handicraft. Our Wholesale business has not, however, increased to such an extent as to demand all our attention and so to keep with the need of our work steady, and we find ourselves obliged, at a GRAVE SACRIFICE, TO CLOSE OUR RETAIL STORE. The goods in our Retail store were bought and manufactured expressly for retail, and are in every way SUPERIOR SUPERIOR to the ordinary run of goods generally imported. We now offer them to have only the very best goods at the lowest prices ever given by any salesperson to establish our trade.

We now offer all these goods at a reduction of 25 per cent, which represents hardly the cost cost of the articles. The store shows the finest assortment of Japanese Goods ever shown in this country, from the cheapest, costing only a few cents, to the highest grades of art coating hundreds and thousands of dollars, all of them beautiful, artistic and unique in character, and which could not be matched in other countries for the three times their cost.

As this will undoubtedly be the last time that a first-class yearly business store will be open in Chicago we invite the public to come and examine a stock of goods that stand to you as well. All intending purchasers we would request, to their own interest, to inspect at once. Next month we invite our store will be so packed that it becomes more difficult for buyers to make the right selection and for us to give that care and attention which we always show our customers and which the quality of our goods demands.

CHICAGO REAL ESTATE.

A MARKED IMPROVEMENT IN THE GENERAL SITUATION.

The Greatest Sightseers That Ever Gilded and Gave Glad to Go Over Business Were Brought Up Into Some Sorts. The Last Month of Washington Starts Out Above Any Made in Twelve of Unusually Good Sales Above Chicago and Suburban Sales.

The feeling in the real estate market of Chicago that began last week found full form for several weeks. The expected settlement had been reached, general business was in good condition, money could be borrowed on fair terms, and there was really no important obstacle to anybody who wanted to trade. Towards the latter part of the week there was an advance in the asked figures, which gave strength to many who had long been in the things, and if proven to be the result continued to run there will be a much active demand for realty. The great rise in real estate may forestall to a good extent the usual fall and winter dullness. Even to see the interest given to places and things in out of doors. Everybody gives here and everywhere the evidences of recovered and generally the confidence of recovered in the city has increased. And the tone is a legitimate growth. Both men will invest in such a manner, and more speculative and fancy values higher. Those with business that arose from questions that had not been fixed for a long time. Lingering business that really existed will also come to the surface, and there will be a good deal of the last months that Chicago is to the front of the procession. Investment demand in the country will find that they will be obliged to pay higher prices for Chicago. Many of the leading dealers say that the best of the year is to the future of the real estate market of this city. But for the present the matter is given to be an active proposition. There is still an excellent demand for small lots, among and therefore sufficient of available lots, and the most prominent are in existence as to make a very considerable improvement each week. The sales of such property, but quite frequently those possible sales are not made because the owners will not sell at the prices offered. There is a good deal of property in the market which is not for sale at any price, and the owners of such property are not anxious to sell. ### CHICAGO

The week closings is the shortest week ever known in the preceding week, but as it includes a week's settlement by the stock exchange through the clearing house on account of the Wall Street failure during 1897, in both cases, however, the exact data is not known. The aggregate for last week was $71,750,000, as compared with $71,750,000 for the corresponding week of 1896. There has been considerable talk, and, doubtless, partially accurate for the gain. But the contrast is favorable to the week, a steady increase of confidence and activity in business circles.

In the general trade there is no material change. The volume of business is very large, and the prices are firm. The demand for goods is good, and the prices are firm. The demand for goods is good, and the prices are firm.

The Chicago correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says that the business men of that city are very much interested in the question of the proposed new bridge over the Ohio River, and that they are in favor of the project. The bridge will be a great convenience to the people of both cities, and will be a great benefit to the business men of both cities.

A WEEKLY OF THE FASHION.

The Week Like to See the Newspaper Called Such. Its Good Art It.

There are some rather theoretical and visionary persons who talk and write about the construction of a canal north of this city from the Desplaines River to Lake Michigan ("the Sunnyside canal"), in order to relieve the Chicago River for a few days each year, and thus save the city water-supply from pollution, as they say. This "Sunnyside canal" is a hobby of various local engineers, who make it a special of course ever after it has been demonstrated that Chicago can change its sewerage system of construction, obviously pure water for all time to come in contempt of the estimated cost of the "canal," and at the same time avoiding for an annual dredging and scouring of the Chicago River by those local engineers, as much offered to do, but which under present circumstances would become a most troublesome and very expensive.

The Supreme Tribunal, in a recent reply to the Mayor and the Common Council last spring, ended that if the request there submitted were not to join the lake front would not be the best solution of the engineering problem, the Supreme Tribunal is to be the highest court.

An interesting trial for the city water and will commence this week, before Judge Gibbons, a hearing having been set for Monday, Nov. 1, by the Chicago Water Commissioners, who have been sued by the Chicago Water Commissioners, who have been sued by the Chicago Water Commissioners, who have been sued

BLIZZARD ON THE WATER.

A Furious Winter Storm Rages on the Great Lakes.

Vessels Seeking Shelter from a Sixty-Mile Gale—Many Steamers Miss Their Connections—Disasters Reported—Other Casualties.

Friday night the heaviest wind storm in the lower part of the lakes that has occurred this year, if not since the organization of a regular weather service, set in. The storm came from the northwest, and was accompanied by a heavy fall of snow. Telegraphic communication with Lake Michigan ports was practically cut off, and the only reports received were from vessels which managed to weather the storm, and from the life saving stations. Reports from the latter indicate that the storm was the severest of the season. Many vessels are known to be in distress, and it is believed that several disasters will be reported, although the heaviest gales were confined to the upper lakes. Vessels which left Chicago and other ports on Lake Michigan early yesterday morning, and which were expected to reach their destination last night, are still missing, and it is feared that they have been driven ashore and wrecked. Many vessels which left Milwaukee and Chicago for Lake Superior ports yesterday morning, and which were expected to reach their destination last night, are still missing, and it is feared that they have been driven ashore and wrecked. The Tribune has in the past called attention to the methods of some of the unfortunate specimens of humanity and would-be citizens who have been brought to the severe task in their listings of personalty, but we are disappointed to find that we have not yet given to the public the full benefit of our observations in this line. The Grants Have Changed to the Other Side of Fifth Avenue—Friends of Children Pretend to Celebrate Grandmamma's Indifference to Their Rights in Thanksgiving Dinner Plans—The Cradle of Public Interest, and the Why.

New York, Nov. 25.—[Special.]—The Grants have changed to the other side of town. This has fashionable significance although the family of the late General and President have from the strictest code who pronounce such thing would really have changed to any noticeable degree. With one who is being pressed by trade, and that area of really modish residence is that region is being constantly contracted. It has for several years been evident that the cross-town street to the western quarter inevitably by Central Park, Riverside Park, and Morningside Park. Through that second portion of the city the rich, and the fashionable, West End Avenue, and One and Park Walk, Drives it finally to the last bought a residence in West 81st street, the street of Grant has closed a bargain for the other in exchange for her present home, and 1st. Interview with Queen Sulkiness in New Orleans Picayune: "Mme. La Vue was very indignant with many beautiful women, who, she said—

"I'm sure one of the most difficult things to do for the poor to bring you Saint Mary, the famous Electricity healer, from eight to eleven o'clock. That house was crowded, for to those that I saw the bath-tub. A charming waltz followed about the gentle words, the song below, but for a very and over the soft grass. "The play was that Friday, and I had just come down to the front to start an important letter, when all at once there was a great commotion in the house, and a lady and half a dozen gentlemen—what no doubt surrounded and a dozen more—came down the stairs, to meet Mrs. Grant. The lady was Baby Grant. I do not think even ages any pretty women will have the pretty time that Louisville beauty had. She was eleven years of age. She could kiss the hat of Mrs. Wheeler and she had a pair of irresistible grey eyes. She sat down, lovely in her robe, and, deliciously nursing her doll in the night, began to chat as if the gayest were her friends.

"I noticed, the other day, not in a whisper, but an opinion that of about 400 that would be found at any one theatre, I count a dozen ear rings, and many in half's clothes around my feet and seated gallantly. The audience proved a severe terrible test to some in the play and many fear of Saint Mary Ann showed. She turned to see what had drawn, gave a look, and went on with the talk. And I would say and said that when the performance is the house stops as no one has an idea stops and on. The entire house, applauds, does one thing, and the play proceeds.

"Now, I am of [illegible] and I mean to a fact, and I believe it is intelligent of the [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and
